

Low-Performing Kentucky School on Its Way To High-Performing With Reading Mastery

Highland Elementary School has been home to Sarah Newman for nearly 40 years – as a student, teacher, curriculum specialist, and now principal. When she became principal in 2004, she and her colleagues decided their school would no longer be labeled low-performing. Instead, they i

